HOW TO BEAT THE BLOAT!

tains water, making you feel bloated, and can also boost blood pressure.

CHEWING GUM: While ensuring fresh breath and preventing snacking, chewing a stick of gum leads to swallowing of extra air.

REFINED CARBOHYDRATES: Cookies, pasta and other refined products are more quickly broken down into sugars that trigger bloating.

DIET SODAS: Saving calories may not compensate for the swelling caused by the carbonation in these beverages. It's better to sip water with lemon, lime or cucumber, or tea.

ARTIFICIAL SWEETENERS: Many contain sugar alcohols, which can ferment in the intestines.

DAIRY PRODUCTS: Those who are lactose-intolerant lack the enzyme to break down lactose, causing pain and gas.

GREEN CAN HELP FIGHT OFF MELANOMA

WITH summer just around the corner, there's good news for beachgoers and lovers of the great outdoors — sunscreen really works as protection against melanoma!

A new study recently presented to the American Association for Cancer Research proves that slathering on SPF 30 lotion delays the onset of deadly skin cancer and reduces the incidence of melanoma tumors in lab rats.

That's great news, since nearly 77,000 new cases of melanoma will be diagnosed this year, and more than 10,000 Americans will die from the skin cancer.

Researchers tested the effect of the SPF 30 sunscreens against the equivalent amount of ultraviolet light the average person would be exposed to during a weeklong beach vacation.

Every sunscreen sampled provided the protection, even though "sunscreens were never meant to handle a week's worth of sun given at one time," notes study spearhead Dr. Christin Burd of the Ohio State University Comprehensive Cancer Center.
